Apr 2023 – Jun 2024

University of Georgia, Athens

- Recruits, trains, and supervises undergraduate and graduate student research assistants.
- Oversees data collection for a national content analysis of crisis pregnancy center websites and an update of a national directory of crisis pregnancy centers, including developing protocols and instruments, maintaining REDCap databases, assigning work to research assistants, performing quality assurance, and troubleshooting data issues.

- Develops manuscripts and conference presentations in collaboration with the Primary Investigator and other project staff.
- Supports communications by reviewing and editing draft social media posts.
- Manages requests for media interviews and data sharing agreements.

Graduate Student Researcher

Sep 2021 – Jun 2024

University of California, San Francisco, CA

- Completes in-depth interviews with physicians regarding their knowledge and experience providing reproductive healthcare services to formerly incarcerated individuals.
- Analyzes interview transcripts using matrix and Grounded Theory methods.
- Collaborates with Primary Investigator to design survey experiments intended to understand how the stigma of having been incarcerated affects delivery of reproductive healthcare services.
- Develops manuscripts and conference presentations in collaboration with the Primary Investigator and other project staff.

Data Analyst

Oct 2021 – Mar 2023

Emory University Rollins School of Public Health, Atlanta, GA

- Analyzes qualitative and quantitative data to design and validate measures of women's empowerment, agency, mental health, and experiences of violence in global health research settings.
- Manages data collection by coordinating with in-country partners, monitoring and cleaning data collected via online portals, and ensuring work remains within timeline and budget constraints.
- Develops reports for clients, manuscripts for publication, and portions of funding applications in cooperation with the wider team.

Health Data Analyst

May 2019 – Feb 2021

Behavioral Health Concepts, Inc., San Francisco, CA

- Planned and coordinated annual data aggregation and reporting process for two Medi-Cal managed care plan evaluations.
- Performed data analysis and visualization in Stata, NVivo, and Excel.
- Designed and oversaw mixed methods data analysis and reporting processes.
- Reviewed recently collected data for quality assurance purposes and coordinated with evaluators and program staff to ensure accuracy and completeness.
- Identified, proposed, and implemented data process improvements.

Research Associate

Apr 2015 – May 2019

American Institutes for Research, Washington, DC

- Managed project budgets and timelines, client communication, and subcontractor and consultant relationships for multiple projects worth up to $3 million.
- Contributed to evaluation planning and implementation by developing data collection and security protocols, IRB applications, data collection instruments and databases.
- Collected qualitative data through semi-structured interviews and cognitive testing.

- Analyzed qualitative data using a variety of strategies and reported out results.
- Developed and programmed surveys; managed and coded survey data.
- Performed quantitative analysis in STATA and disseminated results.
- Contributed to business development through writing proposal content, developing and justifying budgets, and coordinating proposal development efforts.
- Developed public-facing communication products including plain language translations of research findings, webinars, FAQ documents, and project websites.

Graduate Research Assistant

Sep 2012 – Mar 2015

Emory University, Rollins School of Public Health, Atlanta, GA

PIs: Gina Wingood and Ralph DiClemente

- Performed one-on-one qualitative interviews regarding knowledge, attitudes, and experience around faith-based health promotion and HIV prevention.
- Managed data in Access, conducting accuracy and format reviews.
- Conducted pre- and post-test HIV risk reduction counseling, gave HIV test results, and referred participants to appropriate organizations for additional services.
- Contributed to recruitment efforts by leading on-site recruitment events, making follow-up calls to potential participants, developing phone scripts and email templates for recruitment, and directing junior staff regarding recruitment priorities.
- Administered Automated Computer-Assisted Self Interview (ACASI) surveys.
- Developed survey instruments, study protocols, and health education tools.

HIV Behavioral Surveillance Interviewer

Jul 2013 – Dec 2014

Georgia Department of Public Health, Atlanta, GA

- Performed computer assisted personal interviews (CAPI) with men who have sex with men and heterosexual individuals in high areas of poverty regarding their sex practices, drug use, and other health behaviors.
- Screened participants for eligibility based on sexual history and area of residence and obtained informed consent from eligible participants
